Pitch & Conditions Report

The venue for the 4th Test is expected to offer spin-friendly conditions in the later stages, typical of Indian pitches in the latter half of a Test series. Early on, pacers may get some bounce and movement with the red ball, but by Day 3, expect the pitch to assist spin heavily.

Fantasy Edge:

- Pick at least two quality spinners.
 - Top-order batters from both sides are more likely to score big in the first innings.
 - Avoid lower-order batters unless they bowl regularly.

Top Vision11 Fantasy Picks – India

Rohit Sharma

Back in form and brilliant on slow pitches. A solid choice for captaincy.

Ravichandran Ashwin

On turning tracks, Ashwin is nearly unplayable. Expect wickets and a handy 30+ score with the bat.

Yashasvi Jaiswal

The young opener has shown great confidence against the new ball and could be a high-scoring pick.

Kuldeep Yadav

If included, he's a differential pick. Wrist spin can be highly effective as the pitch wears down.

Top Vision11 Fantasy Picks – England

Joe Root

England's most technically sound batter, especially in Tests. Reliable for both halves of the game.

Ben Stokes

Even with limited bowling, Stokes is a big-match player. Can rescue innings and score counter-attacking runs.

Mark Wood / Ollie Robinson

Depending on selection, either could exploit early Day 1 pitch behavior and grab 3–4 wickets.

Jack Leach / Rehan Ahmed

If spin comes into play, English spinners could find help in the second innings. Leach is consistent and Ahmed adds variety.

Fantasy Tips for Vision11 Users

1. Pick multi-role players: All-rounders like Ashwin, Stokes, or Jadeja (if fit) are fantasy gold.
2. Use vice-captain slot smartly: Use it on someone who is likely to bowl more and bat in the top 5.
3. Track toss and lineups: Finalize your team after toss to avoid surprises in team selections.
4. Use differential picks in grand leagues to stand out — like wicketkeepers or lower-order bowlers with scoring ability.
5. Balance Indian and English picks: While home advantage matters, players like Root and Stokes can't be ignored.

Vision11 Match Prediction: Who Will Win the 4th Test?

Given India's dominance on home turf and the likely spin conditions, India enters the 4th Test as the favorite. England's batting approach might bring some aggressive moments, but unless they counter spin well, India is poised to take control.

From a fantasy standpoint, expect spin bowlers, top-order batters, and all-rounders to be the biggest point earners.
